DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to the amendment filed on 4/14/2008.
2. As per applicant's amendment, claims 1-18 and 20-21 have been cancelled and claim 19 is currently pending

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claim 19 is allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The incorporation of claims 1 and 18 into claim 19 renders moot the previous rejections of claim 1 under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Ishigaki and claim 18 under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable under Ishigaki in view of Bedingfield. Upon consideration of the obviousness rejection of Ishigaki in view of Bedingfield, both Ishigaki and Bedingfield fail to disclose or suggest finding the sum of the approximation corresponding to at least two sort keys and using that sum as an approximation of the situation information in order to sort URLs based on that approximation. The closest art of record is that of Werner, which teaches of a method of storing multiple sort keys in association with a plurality of files. These sort keys are best exemplified in Werner's showing of Fig. 17, and corresponding description in pg. 7, paragraph [0061], which shows a plurality of files (A file through F file), each of those files possessing multiple "keys" which they may be sorted by (time of last access and specified regions). Werner further teaches that the plurality of files may be sorted in accordance with any one of those sort keys as may be seen in Werner's showing in Fig. 15 which shows the files sorted by time and Fig. 18 which shows the files sorted by region. However, Werner provides no explicit teaching or motivation within the art to use two or more separate sort keys to sort their files. None of the prior art of record, in particular, Ishigaki, Bedingfield, and Werner, disclose or suggest finding a degree of approximation for at least two different types of sort keys and the sum of those degrees to be used to sort URLs. Accordingly, the present claim is found to be allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

- Linderman (US 4,611,280), sorting method.
- Whitnabe (US 2004/0031732), methods and apparatus for a non-discrete sortation process.
- Gallagher (US 2005/0134945), 3D view for digital photograph management (includes sorting with multiple characteristics).
